“During the economic downturn, more families than ever are struggling to provide their children with healthy meals. This is especially true during the summer when school is out and students lose access to the daily meals provided by their schools. The Summer Food Service Program is a way to improve the quality of the lives of these children by fulfilling the urgent need for regular nutritional meals.”

— Mari Brennan Barrera, vice president of the Eos Foundation

"I very much like the personal involvement . . . so much of what we do for the homeless and hungry is impersonal and involves giving donations. The Walk is quite different."

“Don’t worry about how many miles you walk — every mile and dollar counts, and even just walking part of the route sends a message that you care and you are ‘walking the walk’ and not just ‘talking the talk’!”
